Local Laconia.

The Old Folk's concert has been postponed till some future date.

Notice the advertisement of "Farm for Sale," in our Ashland department.

Mechanics' band will elect officers for the ensuing year, on Thursday evening April 7.

On account of the sickness of the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Leach will preach at the Free Baptist church tomorrow.

Will Mooney, clerk for J. W. Beede & Co., has been sick for several days and unable to attend to his duties.

John Smith, Jr., formerly in business here, but now a real estate broker in Boston, has been stopping in this vicinity.

In a few weeks we shall commence the publication of interesting letters from Washington, D. C., which will appear in each issue.

We were pleased to receive a call this week from Mr. Matthew H. Culver of Somerville, Mass., a gentleman of considerable newspaper experience and an efficient canvasser.

Mr. E. S. Grant, agent for the "New Home" Sewing machine, has in this week's REVIEW, challenged J. R. Quincy, agent for the "Household," to meet him in a public examination as to the merits of the two machines.

The fourth popular assembly of the course will be given in Town Hall next Thursday evening. Additional music will be furnished and a general good time may be expected. Sets form at 7:45. All are cordially invited.

We learn that applications have been made for leasing the building formerly occupied by the Wedgely Plow Co., the same to be used as a knitting mill. But at last accounts no definite arrangements had been made.

A CARD.—We would express our sincere thanks to the many friends who visited us on the evening of March 18, and left us many gifts to remind us of their friendship and hope at some future time to be able to repay their care.

H. B. CLOUGH,
TENE CLOUGH.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Clough were the recipients of a surprise party last Friday evening, from the members of the Masonic Lodge, Engine Co., and operatives in the mill. The affair was secretly planned and executed and the visit with many valentines was a pleasant surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Clough. Among the gifts was a barrel of flour by the Masons. Mr. Clough has been in poor health for some time and consequently has been unable to work.

Now that our village is donning a spring like appearance, we have contemplated improvements in many directions. Water street is to be extended through land owned by J. W. Beede, following the canal as far as the shore of Waukewan lake, which will open a chance for many desirable building lots in that locality.

High street is to be extended considerably farther by Col. E. Stevens, which will be properly graded, thus affording another opportunity for building. Everything seems to indicate that the coming season is to be one of increased business prosperity to our village.

Last evening was celebrated the 25th anniversary in the married life of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Seavey. A large number of their friends were present to engage in the festivities of the occasion and a very enjoyable time was experienced by all present. Music was furnished by Mrs. S. W. Rollins, piano, and H. S. Dustin, violin. A poem by Mrs. Dr. Carey was also read. A bountiful supper was also served, to which all did ample justice and the evening passed in pleasant conversation and a general good time. Among the presents received, were one pair tea urns, cake basket, dozen silver spoons, pickle fork, etc.

Dr. Mason, who has been seriously ill at the residence of N. H. Weeks, in Plymouth, is now slowly recovering.

It is not often that we publish anonymous communications, but the following lines were received early this week and we give them publicity.

We find upon our plate tonight, a paper, crisp and new.

Which bears this title at its head,

"The Meredith Review."

We looked at it, first carelessly. And then we read it through, growing more surprised and pleased, with "The Meredith Review."

It has a moral tone we see, true, and true, and that is why we like to read, "The Meredith Review."

Then read it all; for it will give, to all good things a clew.

Our toast tonight shall be "Success, to the Meredith Review."

We desire to return thanks to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Seavey for generous slices of their silver wedding cake.

It has been very gratifying and also encouraging to us since our first issue of the REVIEW in its new form, by the many words of approval it has received at the hands of its readers. We have also been pleased to add a large number of actual subscribers to our list, during the past week, the greater number being yearly ones, thus showing their confidence in its permanency. With our present orders for job printing and other evidences of prosperity, it is sincerely hoped that the "poor young man," who is represented as about to undergo some fearful chastisement at the hands of his opponents, will yet survive and continue to do business.

We have secured several correspondents in the surrounding towns and shall have many more as soon as arrangements can be made. We intend to keep the readers of the REVIEW well posted on local events.

Harry Dustin was to-day the recipient of a beautiful bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Seavey.

GENERAL NEWS.

The special freight train south from Bath, recently had a car loaded with charcoal, fresh the day before from the kiln of Henry & Baldwin at Lisbon. It was discovered to be on fire. The train continued, however, to Bath, where it was obliged to stop till Friday morning. The car burned down and train was unable to pass until a new track was laid.

Wallace Clark, an employee of the Worcester and Nashua Railroad, as a brakeman, who left Nashua on an extra freight train on Friday forenoon for Worcester, was knocked from the car on which he was riding, a few miles this side of Groton by a bridge, and falling between the cars, the wheels passed over him, killing him instantly.

Daniel Astley Webster, a cousin of Daniel Webster, died in New York city a few days since. He was 81 years of age. He was the inventor of Woodworth's planing machine, the spring beater for grain, and the threshing machine for grain, now in general use. He also invented a street-sweeping machine similar to that now in use.

A CHALLENGE.

Whereas, J. B. Ordway of Meredith, has reported that the "New Home" sewing machine is the most perfect machine ever made, I, E. S. Cram, do hereby Challenge J. R. Quincy, to meet me for a public examination of the "New Home" sewing machine and my machine, before a committee of three first-class machinists, and to let the public examine my machine, this to be done in the presence of a large number of persons.

Given this challenge, I, E. S. Cram, and will please notify me at Leconia and arrangements will be made for the examination.

(Signed) E. S. CRAM.
